Hello happy Mom! On a recent busy evening I found myself with some uncooked pork chops, crazy children, little time and Fortun's Finishing Touch Sauce in Santa Fe Verde. I literally tossed the pork chops in the oven to bake with no prep or seasoning (well, I at least took it out of the plastic packaging!). When the pork chops were cooked I heated the sauce for a minute on the stove top and then put it over the chops. The kids and my husband raved about a meal that I barely lifted a finger over. I love your Fortun's. No, really, I LOVE you!

Fortun's Finishing Touch Sauces come in a great variety of flavors and the two I tried (Santa Fe Verde and Mulligatawny Curry) were delicious and flavorful and made me look like a better cook than I really am. Pick some up at your local grocer today and save yourself some time all while looking like a rock star in the kitchen! Click here to find a store near you.
